Department of Attorney General and Justice
Strategic Framework 2012–14

Message from the Director General

The Department of Attorney General and Justice is the Principal Department within the Attorney General and Justice Cluster. The Department employs almost 15,000 staff around NSW and supports the NSW community by providing access to justice services, through the protection of rights and public safety initiatives.

Our 2012–14 Strategic Framework outlines our vision and broad strategic directions for the next two years. Our business initiatives are clearly linked to the NSW Government’s goals and targets in the ten year Plan “NSW 2021”. We are committed to a high standard of performance against those targets for which our Department is the lead agency: Improving community confidence in the justice system and Preventing and reducing the level of re-offending.

Delivering quality services with a client centric focus is both a government and justice cluster imperative. We are working towards seamless service provision across a truly integrated justice system that is responsive to current issues in the justice sector and is well placed to understand and address the needs of individuals.

We recognise that achieving some of our expected outcomes relies on the strategic support and operational assistance of a number of NSW government and non-government agencies with whom we work closely. In clearly stating what we know must be achieved, we are indicating our commitment to ensuring that a high level of cooperation is achieved. Indeed, our partnerships are one of our great strengths in achieving a truly collaborative and coordinated approach to providing an effective justice system which supports safe communities and the protection of rights.

We have a proven record in working with other government and non-government agencies for the greater good of the people of NSW. We will continue on this path because reducing re-offending, increasing community confidence in the justice system and enhancing public safety can only be accomplished when all justice agencies work closely together, collaborate with other service providers and actively engage with the diverse NSW community.

I have confidence in the management and staff of the Department who will use this Strategic Framework to inform their planning and delivery of programs and services. We are all committed to achieving the goals we have set.
